Forged in Revolution: The Creation & History of the Episcopal Church

Sun., Jan. 7, 14 & 28; Feb. 4 & 11 2018 at 9 AM in the Parish Hall

In the midst of Revolution, members of the Church of England in the American colonies were left with a choice: return to England or find a new way to worship. Join us at 9 AM on Sunday mornings for “Forged in Revolution,” a five week study on the history of the Episcopal Church. Whether you’re a life-long Episcopalian or new to the church, there will be something for everyone.

Feb 11	Postlude: Hopeful Future

WITNESS

Part One of the Three Part Series, Come and See

WALKING WITH JESUS THROUGH HOLY WEEK

Feb. 18	The Triumphal Entry
Feb. 25	The Last Supper
March 4	The Garden
March 11	The Trial
March 18	The Crucifixion

The first of a three-part series, you are invited in this Lenten season on a journey through Holy Week as a witness to the last week of Jesus Christ. Divided over five weeks and taught by our rector, “Witness” will offer an in-depth, biblical look at the important events of Holy Week, inviting attendees to walk next to Jesus, and to stand as witness to this solemn event, from his entry into Jerusalem to his death on the cross.

The next two series are: “Our Hearts Burned: Meeting the Risen Christ” and “Clothed with Power: The Birth of Ekklesia.” They will continue through the end of May.

Resolution: More Death Cab

“This is the new year / and I don’t feel any different.”

Dear Holy Trinity,

“This is the new year / and I have no resolutions.”

Last year at this time, I wrote my second letter to Holy Trinity imagining what this new call—this new adventure—might bring. I reminded everyone that it’s not our successful completion of resolutions that make us the people God wants us to be. It’s not the boxes checked, the things left done or undone. No, it’s about our relationship to our God-made-man Jesus Christ.

It seems right to circle back to this idea—and the song “The New Year” by Death Cab for Cutie from their 2003 album Transatlanticism—the questions about what the new year, new call, new move, new job, new life might bring.

“This is the new year / and I don’t feel any different.” So sings Death Cab’s front man Ben Gibbard in the first line of the song.

Do you feel different? Good different, bad different, or just different different?

Just because we don’t feel different doesn’t mean we aren’t different.

The world is a different place than it was a year ago. We are different people than we were a year ago. We’ve had new experiences—good, bad, and ugly—that will shape us for years to come. We met new loved ones and lost others. We’ve seen new things start and old things end.

Although I still believe that judging a year based on achievement is not the best way to judge our time on earth (I probably lean more towards a “Seasons of Love” measurement from Rent); it is a good time to stop and reflect on the year that has past.

For me, that year has been a whirlwind. Moving 1600 miles. Entering a new role. Meeting and caring for new people. Learning a new town and new system. Making sure I don’t mess up too spectacularly. Mostly, I’m just flabbergasted that it’s already been a year. It seems like just yesterday.

As I reflect, I’m thankful for the year that we had together. There were things I could’ve done better. There are things I could’ve done worse. But, all-in-all, it was a good year.

If there’s one thing I learned from the last year, it’s the importance of relationships. Becoming your rector, being welcomed into your lives, being with you through the best and worst that life has to offer: it has changed me in a profound way.

You have changed me in a profound way. And for that, I am so grateful. And so thankful that God called me to this place with all of you.

So, as you reflect on the last year, maybe you don’t feel any different. Maybe you didn’t make any resolutions. Maybe you’re overjoyed that 2017 is history. But here is something that I know for certain; even if we don’t feel different, we are different.

We are different because we have shared a year together, blended our lives and loves together, and offered them in faithful obedience to God. God has worked in every second of every minute of every hour of our days. The whole of creation calls us, pleading and begging with us to remember that everything is different, that everything changed 2000 years ago when God “became flesh and dwelt among us” (John 1:14), a “light shining in the darkness” (John 1:5), the “lamb of God who takes away the sin of the world” (John 1:29).

We are different because God has spent another year reminding us of the Good News of the Gospel—that Jesus Christ came to be with us, to call us out of sin and pain, and invite us into a new world.

I’m thankful for 2017. I’m thankful for the reminder of the Good News of the Gospel.

And I know that this is the new year, and even though I don’t feel any different, that everything is being brought to perfection by the one at who’s name every knee shall bow and every tongue confess.

Happy New Year.

In Christ,
Ben

ANNUAL PARISH MEETING

JANUARY 21, 2018

9:00 AM - JOINT SERVICE
10:30 AM - ANNUAL MEETING (UNDERCROFT)

In Review: 2017

The 2018 Annual Meeting is upon us, but this time with something new: bylaws!

2018 ANNUAL MEETING

On January 21, 2018 we will hold our annual parish meeting. According to the canons of the Episcopal Church and the Diocese of New Jersey, we are required to hold an annual meeting to (1) present the budget to the congregation, (2) elect new members to the vestry and representatives to diocesan roles, and (3) reflect on the prior year of ministry.

This year we will do something a bit different. We will begin worshipping together at a combined service at 9 AM. The service will be a mixture of both Rite I and Rite II services, and will be a time to worship, pray, and give thanks together. Following the service, we will gather in the undercroft for refreshments and for the 2018 Annual Meeting at 10:30 AM. The meeting should take about an hour to an hour-and-a-half. Light food will be served. It will include elections, presentation of the budget, a presentation from our rector, and one more piece that is special for 2018: passing of bylaws!

BYLAWS: WHAT FOR?

The canons of the Episcopal Church and the Diocese of New Jersey recognize the relative autonomy of self-sustaining parishes. To ensure that those parishes operate appropriately and (somewhat) uniformly, and in compliance with all national and diocesan expectations, parishes are required to have bylaws: governing documents about the structure and running of the parish. Typically, bylaws are written and approved prior to the transition from mission to self-sustaining parish.

For whatever reason, Holy Trinity has never had officially bylaws (or, if they did, they have subsequently been lost by both the church and the Diocese.) Our rector established a bylaws committee to draft bylaws. They were presented to the vestry at the November meeting, and were approved within the first weeks of December. They are available for you to read and comment on here.

The final step is presentation, comment, and approval of the bylaws by the congregation. At the annual meeting, after the presentations by the treasurer and rector, the bylaws will be presented for comment and vote. Amendments offered by the bylaws committee will be offered. Then a vote will take place.

You are highly encouraged to “read, mark, learn, and inwardly digest” the proposed bylaws. If you have comments, concerns, or suggested corrections, please email our rector so he can address the issues before the meeting.

Approving bylaws for Holy Trinity is a big and important step in moving the church toward accountability and transparency. It is also a big symbolic step in owning our self-governance and preparing for the future. We hope that you will be a part of this momentous occasion in the life and ministry of Holy Trinity.

Dear Holy Trinity Family,

Your effort is making a difference.

I must begin by thanking everyone who volunteered during our December 10-16 host week. The warm and caring hearts at Holy Trinity once again made a huge difference in the lives of our neighbors.

Thank you also to Mother Ellen Rutherford and Deacon Jim Gowland for stepping up to help with the overnights.

Just like last year we had a wonderful Christmas party for our guests on the last night of their stay.

We (the kids) decorated the tree, ate cookies and cakes, sipped eggnog, and had a visit from Ol' St. Nicholas. Then we all settled in with some hot chocolate and watched "The Polar Express"

Thank you so much to those who took time out of their busy holiday schedules to buy, wrap, and deliver a gift for our guests.

The parents and children were blown away by your generosity. You gave a Christmas to those who would not have had one otherwise. It truly was a magical evening.

IHN WORKS

On Christmas Eve I got a text from Jennifer and Barry, one of the families that stayed with us. The Monday after their stay they signed a lease for a new home for them and their two boys. They wanted to come to Holy Trinity and worship with us at the 11:00 PM service on Christmas Eve. If you were there, they were sitting up front with Meghan and me.

I also received a call from Alexis. Hopefully some of you remember her and her son Joel from last Christmas. She has been in a new place since the spring. She wanted to (and did) send me pictures of her Christmas tree this year with her Holy Trinity ornament that we gave her last year on it.

A Note from the IHN Coordinator

Sean Garvin reflects on hosting families during the holiday season.

Then on Christmas Day I received another text from Tamika. She was also with us last Christmas. She sent me pictures of her and the kids decorating the tree and opening presents on Christmas Day in their new home.

What an amazing gift !.

A year later those families remembered what a warm and loving experience they had at HT while living through the most difficult time in their lives.

You should be very proud of how you have carried his cross into the world around you.

We should all be thankful to Almighty God for giving us the opportunity and the means to make such a difference in the lives of our neighbors.

Family Promise works.

I am truly humbled by the warm and caring hearts of the parishioners of Holy Trinity.

Thank you,

Sean Garvin

Auld Lang Syne

Should old acquaintance be forgot? Some thoughts over four years.

This is a song we hear a lot at this time of year. "Auld Lang Syne" can be translated from the Scottish as "days gone by" or "old times." The song poses the rhetorical question: Is it right that old times be forgotten? The chorus suggests that, for kindness' sake, we need to remember old friendships.

In these last few weeks of my 4-year tenure as Holy Trinity's Sr. Warden, this traditional New Year's anthem has been running through my head. It has been a challenging period for us, filled with loss, change, stress, change, frustration, change.... and I wouldn't have missed any of it for the world! The light has shined through our darkness over and over again. You, my dear friends, have sustained our church through all of its problems, by continually finding, and helping to sustain, the good things of Holy Trinity. You never gave up: you supported our church, and you supported me as I endeavored to keep the church functioning at the level we needed and wanted. I am so very grateful, and so very proud of you.

So, as I come to the end of this ~~marathon~~ tenure, I would like to thank you. You have been the rock I leaned on, and the rock our church built upon. Together we sustained Holy Trinity until Ben could come in and take the helm. I continue to be proud of you as you have embraced Ben and Ashley, and worked with the changes he has brought, and continued to grow. You – the members of Holy Trinity – are absolutely amazing!

We should not forget these last few years. We learned from the problems and the stress, and we became better people, and a better congregation, because of them. We also have a much better understanding of the process, for when we have to do it again, however many years from now ("many" being the hopeful operative).

So I thank you. I am not going anywhere; I will simply pass the warden's reins onto your next very capable stewards. I will still see you in church, in the choir, at lector team meetings, through Christmas pageants....

There is a last verse to "Auld Lang Syne," which no one ever sings. It goes:

And there's a hand my trusty friend!

And give me a hand o' thine!

And we'll take a right good-will draught, for auld lang syne.

I will always have a draught (drink), or lunch, or a conversation with any and all of you! Thank you, my dear friends!

Have you Considered Donating Altar Flowers?

Most Sundays (except during Lent), flower arrangements flank the communion table. These flowers are an offering to God as an act of thanksgiving: an offering of beauty and fragrance for the creator, redeemer, and sustainer of the world. The flowers are also offered with special intention for the needs and thanksgiving of our community, including commemorating birthdays, anniversaries, births, special events, and remembrances. Also, you get to take the blessed flowers home to your family!

The vestry and altar guild have noticed that the quality of the altar flowers has been declining, and we are in the process of looking for a new florist. It is our intention to offer the first and best to God, and we want to make sure the flower arrangements are showing that.

We also recognize that the quality of the flowers may be responsible for the lack of volunteers to offer arrangements. We are hoping that in changing the florist, members might be more willing to offer arrangements. Furthermore, during Ordinary Time (the season after Pentecost), we will only have flower arrangements if they have been donated, or if there is a special event or occasion. Would you consider offering altar flowers?

It is our hope that these changes might encourage more folks to donate flowers for Sunday mornings. If you would like to do so, arrangements are $30 and you can sign up on the Flower Calendar, next to the parish hall. Thank you to everyone who already offers flowers for Sunday.

Scripture of the Month

What's in a name?

As we move beyond Christmas into the season of Epiphany, we celebrate the revelation that Jesus is God incarnate. In Isaiah chapter 9, we see the promise of the coming Messiah. In verse 6, we are given a list of names that he will be called. Our translation of choice, the New Revised Standard Version, reads as such:

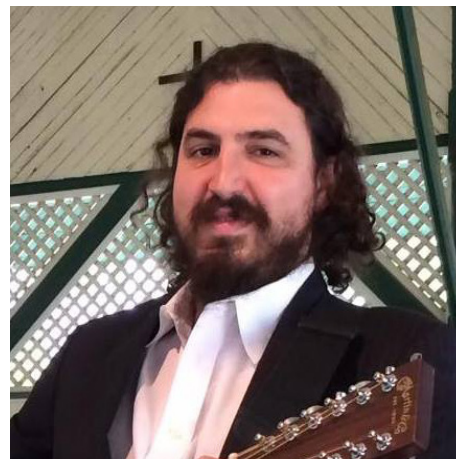

For a child has been born for us, a son given to us; authority rests upon his shoulders; and he is named Wonderful Counselor, Mighty God, Everlasting Father, Prince of Peace.

Most translations agree on the four names, though some make it a list of five, separating Wonderful and Counselor as two different names. The New English translation, instead of Wonderful Counselor, offers "Extraordinary Strategist." The Orthodox Jewish translation, instead of Everlasting Father, gives us "Possessor of Eternity." The nuances among the translations can offer us additional context to scripture. It's often a good idea when you're sitting down to study, to have at least two different translations to compare, and with the internet, the options for translations become virtually limitless. Verses that you've practically memorized can become fresh again with the nuance of a different translation. Give it a try!

Episcopal Church Women (ECW)

ECW News

In the dead of winter, there's a small lull in the ECW's schedule, but monthly soup sales continue on the third Sunday of these winter months. The next is scheduled for January 21 following the 9 AM combined church service. No need to fix lunch that day!

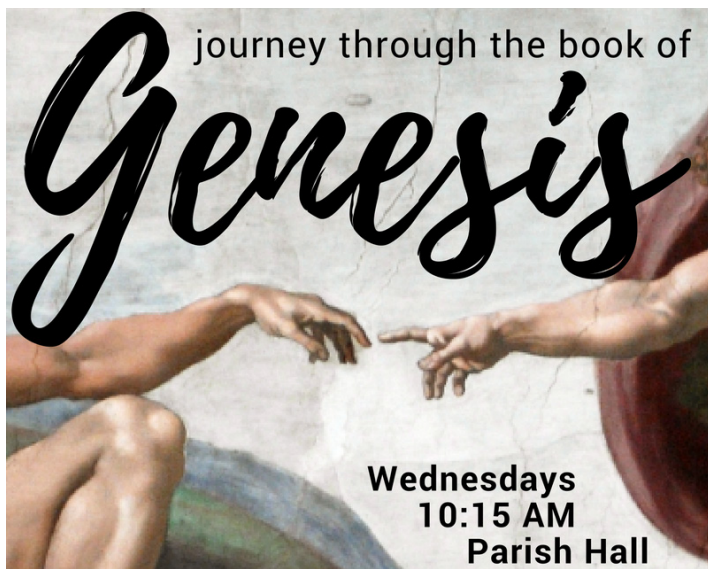

For most of the year, the women of Holy Trinity are hard at work, but on one evening during the year, we take time out to enjoy ourselves. This means Dessert Night at the Telford Inn, which follows a very brief (almost nonexistent) business meeting in January. Please remember that every woman who attends Holy Trinity is an ECW member, and whose presence at the Telford will add to the festivities on the 8th, beginning at 7:00. This is our gift to you!

WAWA COUPONS FUNDRAISER

Do you need a quick meal during this busy season? Are you looking for small gifts for friends? Wawa coupons fit the bill. They are $4 each for a shortie hoagie or a sandwich. See Jackie Gould after the 8 AM service or Colleen Green after the 10 AM service. Coupons will be available beginning Dec. 10.

RADA CUTLERY FUNDRAISER

ECW is hosting an ongoing fundraiser. Rada Cutlery has a large selection of cutlery and kitchen products made here in the USA. You can place your order for items online and they will be shipped directly to you. Place your order now; these items make great holiday gifts! Thank you for your support! # Outreach Updates

Holy Trinity is a church that listens to God's call to love our neighbor and tries, with God's help, to share that love with those in need.

Kitchen of Hope (KOH) Pantry

KOH is a ministry of St. Thomas Episcopal Church, Glassboro, NJ. KOH is an outreach of love and compassion, providing food and school supplies to families in need.

Holy Trinity serves with KOH on the second Friday and Saturday of each month. The food is delivered at 8:45 AM on Friday; then at 8 AM Saturday, the bags are assembled and distributed to over 150 families.

KOH NEWS

Treasurer Jim McCarthy reported at the last trustee meeting that profit for the basket auction was just over $4,000. That represented a significant decline from the previous year, largely due to lower attendance. Holy Trinity, however, was well represented, and thanks go to everyone that supported the event by donating baskets or attending.

The Trustees voted to skip a year of fund-raising while it considers other future possibilities. In the meantime, supporters can continue to make donations that can be used to purchase food.
